It cannot be denied suc-last fall in connection with a murder of this notice, to the undersigned, at cessfully that this is needed. The unification of Alaska would there. be a long step forward in the work of obtaining for the Territory that recognition which is so essential to its progress and prosperity. Of course this is a big country. It is so vast that the people of the different geographical sections are practically United States Land Office, Juneau, strangers to each other. It has been urged that because of this wide separation, geographically, there is little or nothing in common between them. This is not the case. The people of the different divisions are all interested in the common welfare of Alaska. Or, if they are not they should be, and the time to begin the cultivation of the spirit of unity is now. The establishment of a territorial legislature has been the means of bringing ment of a territorial legislature has been the means of bringing the people of the four judicial divisions closer together. It has laid the foundation for a better understanding of the needs of each and of its people. Survey No. 990, in the Rebellion, has made application for patent to the Gastineau Millsite, Survey No. 990, in the Harris Mining District, Juneau and 799, on east side of Chatham strait, non-contiguous tracts, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit: vantage of a closer union the spirit of mutual helpfulness must be still further developed. Why should the people of one section of Alaska selfishly disregard the appeals of another for help, aid or encouragement? The injury of one should be the concern of all. The prosperity of all should unite all in a common purpose. There is room for all and opportunity for all.
